A Communication from a Namesake of the Pretender.

A GENEALOGICAL TREE.

Letters from Mattie Stewart and W. H. Turney.

WIFE, MAID AND WIDOW.

The readers of the HERALD have probably by this time recovered in a measure from the mixed feelings with which they read over Wednesday's contribution to the epistolary literature which Mr. A. T. Stewart's demise has called into existence. To-day the HERALD gives them a document which traces back a family of ewarts about 200 years. Whether or not Mr. A. T. left in doubt by the writer, who possibly had no opportunity of submitting the question to a jury of Welsh women, notoriously infallible in all such matters. It is touching to see the alacrity with which genealogical information is contributed after the great merchant's death, about which he was so utterly indifferent during

The following copy of a letter addressed to Mrs. A. T. Stewart, care of Judge Hilton, of this city, was given a few days since to a reporter of the HERALD was sent in search of the genealogical of the family of the late A. T. Stew-The gentleman who wrote the letter and who has taken the pains to copy all the data given, is of high social standing in England, and Judge Hilton believes it to be correct, owing to the unusual opportupities afforded to this gentleman in his search. letter is on mourning note paper, with the crest of the writer, a pelican feeding its young, and the motto, Priter, a pelican feeding its young, and the motto, "Virescit Vulnere Virtus."

London, England, April 29, 1876.

Madame—In sending the enclosed I do so with the simple idea that they may be interesting to you, and without the least desire of obtruding myself, especially now in the time of your affliction. I have lately lost one of my family, and, although a stranger, I well thow the sorrow of heart at such a time, and an sympathze with you, and I trust you may have strength and health given to bear up under this beavy trial and bereavement, and that you may be palely guided through the arduous and responsible position you have been so suddenly called upon to faill. When I first went to Ireland, in 180s, I was staying with some friends near Lisbura and Bellast, and while rambling about some of the old hunns and descreted houses of the Stewarts I copied the enclosed inscriptions from the tembstones bunt into the walls of the old church of Drumbeg, on the Malone and Lisburn side of Belfast, the burial place of the Stewarts for many generations. The grandiather of Mr. A. T. Stewart was intimate with the Stewarts of Wilmount House, and was considered a relative of that family, but in what degree of relationship I am not clear. My father, the late Mr. T. A. Stewart, the only serviving son of William Stewart, of Wilmount, went to Upper Canada in 1822, where he died in 1847, leaving a family, of which I am the youngest and, of course, can remember but little of what he told me of family history, &c. A few years back there were several mutual friends of both families of the name of Stewart now living in the north of Ireland. My father, who was a member of the Legislative Council of Canada, visited Mr. Stewart in New York in 1845. The latter mentioned the circumstance of his having had a letter of Introduction from their mutual friend, a Mr. Quinn, of Belfast, on his going to America many years previous, which spoke of Mr. Stewart as "his young cousin and names."

which spoke of Mr. Siewari as "his young cousin and namesake."

Assuring you again that I have no other object in thus writing than what I have stated, having been greatly interested while visiting my friends in Belfast for the first time, on this side of the Atlantic, in the discovery of many old and curious family records, of which I feel sure they reier to one and the same family as that of Mr. A. T. Stewart, of New York, and that of the late Mr. Thomas Alexander Stewart, of Upper Canada, formerly of Wilmount and Whitchouse, Antrim. In writing, aunt, I have not endeavored to trench on your time and patience, and with sincere wisnes and sympathy, believe me to be yours, faithfully,

TO MRS. STEWART.

Mrs. A. T. Stewart:

Dear Friend and aunty. I did consider uncle Stewart a very dear friend, not only because he was uncle by marriage to me, but great oncle to my husband, but because he has helped me a number of times to the amount of five hundred dollars made of il years, my husband was from Ireland and was 33 years old when I married him, and I married him on his death bed, in the morning, and he died the same night at eleven o'clock, it was a sad hour to me to be left a widow so soon after marrying him, he was a cierk in a dry goods store and so was I a clerk in the same store, he was the second nusband I had my hirst hushand was milled in three months there in Washington, and was killed in three months there after, sinc I was left a widow, this was in 1802, and I was married again in 1865 to Willie A. Stewart, your husband Nepnew, I don't suppose you or any or uncle's help knew he helped me; I am very thankfull to uncle for what he has helped me, I heard by a geatleman that was in this city that had received $6,000 as a gift of Mr. Stewart, and this man said he presumed uncle had made provision for me and if he

A man named Moriarty was a witness in a case set down for trai in the Court of Sessions at Jersey City yesterday. In consequence of the absence of other witnesses the Court postponed the case for one week.
Moriarty grumbled at his disappointment, and muttered out so audibly as to be heard by the Court that he would not again attend. Judge Hodinan thereupon had him taken into custody and sent to jail.

NO DEADHEAD POLICE.

A temporary injunction, granted yesterday by Judge
Donohue, restrains policemen from entering Gilmore's Garden without paying their way the same as other people. It may be remembered that the Corporation Counsel gave it as his option that the officers of the law had a right to force their way if necessary into any establishment to ascertain whether there was any violating the case for one week.

Moriarty grunbled at his disappoi did not will you something. Mrs. Stewart and Judge Hilton will carry out the various plans and supply all dedictences that uncle could not execute before his death. my first husband was an officer in the Army and I was entitled to a bug pension and to back pay and Bounty at my first husband death, and when I married Willie A. Stewart, the witnesses two persons besides the Justice of the Peace promised to keep my marriage a secret till I got my Pension money and back pay and Bounty about three months ago, and I put it right in Hargers Bank ten thousand dollars and seven bundred dollars in all I put in this Bank, and in two weeks this Bank. I was looking for a place a house to buy. I did not want to buy a dear or costly house. I wanted some left to support and clothe us and also to doctor myself for I am an invilled, it will be two years the 9th of July that I got injured on the sidewalk by steping into a little hole with my foot and the board flow up and hit me in the Boeels and nearly knocked me down and I fainted away and was picked up and carried home by two strangers and have been sick ever since. I am not confined to the bed all the time but half of the day 1st up, but very feebie and a recat suiferer, and aiways will be a great suiferer. When I first got injured my injuries were internal for I came very near bleeding to death, the blood run a stream from the bowels and wonth for a week before it was quelled at all, and it did not cease its flowing entirely in a month but I was confined to my bed eight months and I had two the best surgeons in the City to attend me til one of them died with lever, and has June the other surgeon was coming home from the harbor and his horse took fright and throwed him out and his horse took fright and throwed him out and his horse took fright and throwed him out and his horse took fright and partitived, the city pays those doctors, for I had no means to pay them. I could have help and get well again by a doctor in the city from London; he does great cures and he says he can

Judge Hilton:—

Honorko Sir.—I road your reported statement in which you said that Mr. A. T. Stewart had no living blood relatives. I wish to correct your misapproheasion and also to stole that Mr. Stewart himself knew that he had living kindred, and also Mrs. Stewart, though possibly she may have believed so, as all intercourse had ceased between the families after the death of Mrs. Martin, Mr. Stewart's mother. My father's great grandlather was Mr. Stewart's also, consequently our family are second cousins to Mr. Stewart, the relationship was always recognized by Mr. Stewart, in his younger days especially. His mother, Mrs. Martin, while she was living, and as long as her health permitted, was a constant visitor at the house of her cousin, my aunt, the late Mrs. Parks, maiden name Turney, and to whom she left a legacy of a small sum of money and wearing apparel, which possibly Mrs. Stewart may recall to her memory. Mr. Stewart himself called occasionally on my lather, and on the last occasion, just previous to my lather's death, my father reminded him that he (Mr. Stewart lauguingly replied that he "was the only person in the city who knew his own ags." My lather died Sept. 14, 1865, aged 77. The friendship existing between Mrs. Martin and my aunt Mrs. Parks, independent of the relationship, was strengthened by the fact that it was owing to my aunt's intercession which produced a reconciliation between Mr. Stewart's grandla her, as her marriage to Mr. A. T. Stewart's lather, he not having any fortune, being only a p or scholar, was an officene no censity to be forgiven. Mr. Stewart was acquainted with my brother, the late Paschal W. Turney, of the firm of Varnum. Turney & Harrison, lawyers, and knew of the re ationship existing between them. It was from our common ancestors that the money came which give Mr. Stewart his first capital, or at least so I have always been told by my father. Respectually.

PLYMOUTH PRAYER MEETING.

Plymouth prayer meeting was a trifle less crowded exercises Mr. Beecher said:—There is a maxim that we are in more danger of losing spiritually in times of prosperity than adversity, and yet when men are obliged to go through periods of adversity they think they are set apart for adversity. They think it don't think they are worse than anybody else; they don't know why Providence should single them out. Now, as over against this, we find in all the writings of the apostles such an identification of themselves with Christ as amounts to a stay and support Here also lyes the Bodye of John Stewart, thelf son, who died the Bodyes of Thomas Stewart, their son, who died the 11th of July, 1711, A. ## NEWARK'S EPISCOPAL SISTERHOOD.

The Newark Episcopalians have a sisterhood in charge of their hospital of St. Barnghas, somewhat similar to sisterhoods having charge of Catholic hos-pitals. Yesterday a novel and interesting ceremony was witnessed in St. Paul's Episcopal church. This was the formal admission of Sister Sylvia into the Protestant sisterhood, the ceremony being performed Protestant sisterhood, the ceremony being performed by Bishop Odenheimer, aided by Rectors Smith and Starsbury. The service was opened with a processional hymn, during the singing of which Bishop Odenheimer and a number of clergy followed by the Sister and postumant, the latter with a white vail, entered the church and proceeded to the chancel, the Sisters taking seats in the body of the church.

Rector Smith then briefly addressed the congregation. Among the evidences of the revival which the Hory Ghost has vouchsafed the Anglican communion, he said, there is no more evident token than this revival of sisterhoeds, and the time has now come in our own diocese when such a community is to be established, and when there may be witnessed the establishment of the new sisterhood and the reception of a sister.

Sister Sylvia, of St. Luke's Hospital, New York, came forward and was presented to the Bishop. She knell and Bishop Odenheimer blessed a cross which he handed to her, and after a few collects she took upon herself the vows of the Order and was admitted a member of the sisterhood by the Bishop, in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost.

BROOKLYN'S CROOKED WHISKEY.

Yesterday afternoon the Grand Jury of the United States Circuit Court, of the Eastern District, held another meeting, at which the recent accusations of Christian A. Stein, the indicted illicit whiskey distiller, against Deputy Collectors Samuel Giberson, Daniel Gillen and ex-Assistant District Attorney W. D. Hughes, Gillen and ex-Assistant District Attorney W. D. Hughes, were considered. It will be remembered that the distiller named alleged that he paid those officials $500 per week for two years as the price of their sitence as to this illicit businees. The Deputy Collectors, and a man who was formerly in the employ of Stein, were before the Grand Jury yesterday, but what the nature of the testimony effected was could not be ascertamed. It is probable that the jury will conclude their labors to-day.

WARNING TO STUBBORN WITNESSES.

COTTON CROP REPORT.

Acquera, June 9, 1876. The Cotion Exchange makes a report for May as to the prospects and condition of the cotton crop in twenty-three counties. The average date of replies is June 1. The average shows a decrease of five and three-fourths per cent; no damage from overflow; weather more favorable for planting than last year and decidedly more invorable for working. Stands are very good and far above the average for several years past. Planting was completed earlier than last year, and the crop has grown well. The general condition averages about the same as last year, but ranges from two weeks later to two weeks earlier, according to local influences and more or less favorable weather in certain localities. Labor is reported the same in quantity, but more efficient. The use of commercial tertilizers is about the same as last year, but there has been an increase in home manures and composts. The present condition of the cotton crop is very good, healthy and vigorous, and fields are free from grass. The reports point to a condition decidedly about the usual average at this sgason. Two counties report cut-worm and two report lice, but the reports point to an excellent condition of the erop and more than a favorable prospect for the luture. weather more favorable for planting than last year and

NORTH CAROLINA AND VIRGINIA.

NORFOLK, Va., June 9, 1876. The Cotton Exchange Committee makes the followng report of the condition of the cotton crop :-- From fifty-nine replies received from thirty-two counties in North Carolina and Virginia the report is compiled. Seventeen counties report the same acreage as last year, four report ten per cent increase and eleven report filteen per cent decrease. All report to lands over-flowed, the weather dry and cool, but generally more favorable for planting than last year. Stands are as good if not better. The crop is one week e-riter and labor is more efficient than last year. The average condition of the crop is good, the plant small, but healthy.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON, June 9, 1876. The report of the Charleston Exchange on the condition of the crops of South Carolina was made to-day It is compiled from eighty-four replies, covering thirty counties and exhibiting these results:-The average decrease of area planted in cotton, as compared with last year, is four per cent. The weather has been gen tast year, is four per cent. The weather has been generally more favorable than last year, and the stands of cotton are good. The cotton crop is from five to ten days later than last year, and the condition of labor unchanged. The use of fortilizers decreased one per cent. The present condition of the cotton crop plants is small, but healthy. The acreage in corn exhibits an average increase of nine per cent, and the condition is good. The acreage in wheat has increased cieven per cent and the condition is good. The acreage in outs has increased twenty-five per cent and the condition is very good.

NASHVILLE, June 9, 1876 The May report of the Nashville Department of the National Cotton Exchange, covering eighteen counties of Middle Tennessee and North Alabama, shows a decrease in the acreage of three per cent, the stands of cotton are good, the crop from ten days to two weeks later in the average and the labor supply ample and tully equal in efficiency to that of last year. Favorable reports of the crop predominate; only about one-fourth of the reports are unfavorable. There are some complaints of grass and a few of unsects, but not sufficient to be of material importance.

LOUISIANA, MISSISSIPPI AND ARKANSAS. NEW ORLEANS, June 9, 1876.

The New Orleans Cotton Exchange crop report for May is issued this evening. It gives the following:—

The New Orleans Cotton Exchange crop report for May is issued this evening. It gives the following:—

LOUSIAINA.

Thirty-three parishes sent eighty replies of an average date of May 26. There is an average decrease in the area planued of nearly ten per cent. A large proportion of the cultivable lands of the river parishes, equal to one per cent of the whole State, has been inundated and the waters will aubside too late to replant this season. Three weeks of the latest weather was much less favorable than is usual. Considering the inclement season the stand is fair, but its condition is not good; the plant is small and very grassy. The heavy rains have done considerable damage. Labor was about the same in numbers, but more efficient; commercial lertifizers were not used.

Mississippi.

Thirty-three counties sent 101 replies, averaging in date May 25 to June 5; acreage decrease, one to two per cent; damage from overflow, confined to river counties and estimated at eight per cent of their production: weather generally loss favorable, too much rain with cold nights, stands fair, but plants small and backward; crop two to three weeks later than last year; labor is good. No fertilizers are used at present, but the condition is not encouraging, as the plant is in grass and backward from the effects of heavy rains. There are complaints of interior seed.

Arkansas reports from twenty-three counties fifty-three replies, of dates ranging from the 19th of May to the 2d inst. The acreage decrease is eight per cent. The damage by overflow is confined to Cincot, Desha and Drow counties. Chiect suffered forty per cent, Drew ten per cent, and besha twenty per cent. The weather is as favorable as it was during the past year as a general rule, but, in some counties, it is wet and unsensonably cold.

The Galveston Cotton Exchange crop report is as follows:-

Sent out on the 22d of May questions to 200 correspondents in minety counties, and received only seventy-nine replies from forty-eight counties, dated from the 26th of May to the 1st of June.

First—The area of land planted with cotton in this State compares with last year's as follows:—Sixteen counties report a decrease of from five to thirty-three and one-third per cent; seventeen the same as last year; fifteen an increase of from five to thirty-three and one-third per cent, the land planted thus averaging about the same as last year.

Second and Third—No overflows or damage reported, Fourth—The character of the weather for planting this year compared with last year is as follows:—Twenty-two counties report the same as last year, fifteen less favorable, and eleven more tavorable.

Fifth—Thirty-seven counties report the stands of cotton good, five lair, six hot good.

Sixth—The cotton crop is reported in ten counties to be as early as last year, four counties about two weeks later.

Seconda—Indoor in number and efficiency is fully as good as last year.

serventh—Labor in number and efficiency is fully as good as last year.

Eighth—No lertilizers are used in this State.

Ninth—The condition of the cotton crop is the same, but about two weeks late.

Tenth—Rains in the latter part of May have been beneficial, generally improving the prospecis.

CHILD FATALLY BURNED

Yesterday afternoon a number of children were nicking cinders at the glasshouse of William Brookfield, ing cinders at the glasshouse of William Brookfield, on Grand street, near Newtown Creek meadows. One of the number named Barbara Lutz, residing at No. 282 Powers street, eager to fill her basket, approached the latest discharge from the furnaces and her clothes coming in contact with the hot coals caught fire. The poor girl ran out on the street screaming. Some farmers who were passing extinguished the flames and conveyed her to her residence, where she was attended by Dr. Fertig. Her injuries are very scrious and will probably have a fatal termination.

THROWN FROM A WAGON.

Yesterday evening, while Dr. Shine and his wife, of o. 175 State street, were crossing Greenwich street, at the corner of Dey street, in a light wagon, the horse took fright at a train of the Elevated Railway which chanced to be passing and overturned the vehicle. Both of the occupants were the wn out the doctor breaking two of his ribs and his wite sustaining slight bodily injuries. Both were able to go home.
